

CSE students win Second Prize in HackForTomorrow

Two B Tech (CSE) students of the College, Subin Siby (S3 B Tech, CSE-B) and Geon George (S5 B Tech, CSE-A), have won the Second Prize in HackForTomorrow, a hackathon contest organised by Model Engineering College, Thrikkakara, as part of their tech-fest Excel 2018. The 24-hour hackathon was sponsored by PayTM-Build for India program. The prize winning project was a web-solution called OpenSlave to address the problem of tackling natural disasters. There were twenty teams of participants in the hackathon.
