

CSE Dept introduces Coursera courses to prospective students

Anurag Chandra

During an interactive session with the prospective students of the CSE Dept (students who are expected to join the B Tech program in CSE in 2020) the participants were told about the tie-up Vidya had with the online learning platform Coursera. In particular, they were told about the facility for studying Python programming in the online mode through this tie-up. Many prospective students showed great interest in the scheme and had got enrolled for the programme "Python for Everyone". In fact one such student Anurag Chandra already completed the course and also one more course titled "Technical Support Fundamentals".
